The disability tax credit (DTC) is a non-refundable tax credit that helps people with physical or mental impairments, or their supporting family member, reduce the amount of income tax they may have to pay.

If you are not eligible for the Disability Tax Credit you may still be eligible to claim other credits like the Child Disability Benefit (CDB) and the Canada Workers Disability Supplement!

Did you know your tax returns can be readjusted up to 10 years to include credits like the disability tax credit!
